LONDON LETTER.

EARLIER MEETING OF PARLIAMENT.

A BOER WAR MEMORY.

THE MOTOR BANDIT MENACE.

London, Sept. 6.—It is announced that the date Parliament is to meet will probably be made by the Prime Minister next week, after he has discussed the legislation necessary to give effect to the Ottawa agreement. In order to prevent forestalling, it is the intention that all the Dominions should pass similar legislation, as near as possible, concurrently. Tuesday, October 18, is considered a likely date for the summoning of Parliament. I hear that the Economy Committee of Unionist M.P.s. have in view sweeping proposals for the cutting down of expenditure in nearly every Government Department. These will be based on the findings of the various sub-committees, which have completed their analysis of Departmental expenditure. It will depend on Mr. Chamberlain's wish whether the various reports will be published.

G.I.V. at "Cavalcade."

Those who took part in, or remember, the South African War 1899-1902, will be interested to hear that 300 of the Old Comrades of the C. I. V. were present at the performance of "Cavalcade" at Drury Lane Theatre on Friday night. There are still 743 survivors of the famous volunteers, so the motto "Old soldiers never die" still holds good. At the performance, all joined in the stage cheering, when the troops embarked for South Africa. The songs of the day "Pay, Pay, Pay" were not taken up by the audience, they had probably forgotten them, but on the announcement of the relief of Mafeking, there were many who sang "Auld Lang Syne." At the beginning of the evening, when the Earl of Albemarle and five other of the original officers took their seats in the Royal Box, the old volunteers rose in a mass and cheered.

New Tariff Orders.

In the orders issued by the Treasury on Thursday night, the most important feature is the concession of a Customs drawback on a considerable range of goods which come into this country chiefly for re-export. In the general interests of shipping and employment at the ports, it is a well-advised step. On the recommendation of the Tariffs Advisory Committee, some adjustments of duty which experience has proved desirable are made and additional duties are imposed on a small list of articles and commodities. The object of these additional duties is to encourage the application of mass production methods, and thus assist various industries to produce more cheaply and improve their position as exporters.

The "Week-end Aerion."

This has been organised by British private owners of aircraft, with the object of repaying the courtesy and hospitality given them on their air-tours on the Continent. There is the accumulation of a big debt of hospitality, as 90% of the air touring in Europe is by British pilots and for every foreign pilot that visits these shores fully twenty machines travel abroad. Thirty-six foreign machines arrived at Heston aerodrome last Thursday, six of them suffered minor damage in forced landings due to stormy weather. On Saturday evening a banquet and dance was held in honour of our guests, and on Sunday they all returned to their different countries. That so many came to England is evidence of the practicability of air-touring. The visit was well organised and the visitors were looked after during their sojourn here, aircraft maintenance, hotel accommodation, etc., were defrayed by their British hosts. It is safe to prophesy that air touring next year will increase in popularity.

Arming of Motorists.

Owing to the fact that recently motorists have been held up and robbed by armed bandits, the question has been raised as to the advisability of permitting road users to carry arms as a protection measure. It is felt that a motorist is in a helpless position if faced by modern highwaymen and many favour the carrying of revolvers or automatic pistols, in order that they might be able to face their assailants on terms of greater equality. The official view at Scotland Yard is that more harm than good would result in permitting unauthorised persons to carry firearms. The Police maintain that "Guns begot Guns" and street battles similar to those in the United States would soon develop. The London policemen have only truncheons, they are not armed, neither do they need to be. The opinion is that with improved arrangements and close co-operation between the Flying Squad and the local police this menace will soon die down. A lorry was seen a few days ago with the following notice on the back "The last man who stopped this lorry died."

New Triumphs of Photography.

The newest wonder of photography is the detailed picture of a scene 40 miles distant from the camera and invisible to the operator. At the professional Photographers' Exhibition at the Prince's Galleries there is a set of photographs taken by the infra-red process, proving that the process has even greater possibilities than is generally understood. It has been made possible by the production of extraordinarily rapid plates, which are ten times speedier than those produced, a short time ago, to penetrate miles of misty atmosphere. The process is of the utmost use for landscape and aeroplane photography, but more extraordinary are pictures taken of insects, the ordinary one showing as it appears to the human eye, and the other has revealed its internal structure to the penetrating ray. The new process is not much use for portraiture, infra-red portrait of a clean-shaven negro altered his appearance enormously. He was lighter in colour, more Mongolian in type, and, since the penetrating rays reveal the incipient hairs, he appeared to have a well grown moustache.

The Walker Cup or Depression on the Links.

Proof that the standard of golf played by the leading golfers in this country is not as high as it is in the United States, was given in the Walker Cup match last week. Britain was at full strength, and one naturally has sympathy with members who had to play under conditions to which they were unaccustomed, but we must acknowledge that the American players are better than ours, as we have never won the Cup. Many theories have been advanced to account for the difference, but probably the deciding factor is the American method of training first-class sportsmen. We are inclined to say "This is only a game," whereas in America there is a great anxiety to win, at the same time we cannot hope to beat the United States by our present method. The effect on leaders of the movement started at Britain to make "part-time" rather than "hobby" the playing objective, is all to the good. The secret of our ultimate rehabilitation in golfing skill is to play more scientifically to par, and with it some of our golfing trophies may return across the Atlantic.

SPARKS FROM THE PLUGS

The 1933 CARS will make for SAFER MOTORING

Whether or no it is desirable for 1933 motorcars to make their appearance when 1932 is but half-spent is, it would seem, a matter solely academic discussion, writes the Motoring Correspondent of the Evening Standard. What is to the point is that the policy of getting early off the mark is clearly popular with British motor manufacturers; for out of those who are in a state of vigorous life, about one-third have already announced new programmes.

The outstanding feature of these 1933 models as a class is improvement in gear-box construction, affording, first, greater quietness of all-round operation, and, second, ease of control. The latter is in some instances still further enhanced by some form of automatic clutch.

These developments, which equally apply to American cars, are definitely and valuably progressive. Nevertheless, it appears that there are still die-hards to whom they do not appeal.

These will tell you that "Robot" and "semi-automatic" mechanisms take the fun out of motoring. But that, far from being the real case, merely shows that the reactionaries are ignorant of modern cars, or, at least, of the requirements which they are to satisfy.

A Slam.

To the average motorist the gear change (particularly that down-change, which can be so vital) has always been a bugbear. He, and she, too, will welcome the fact that in the new season's models the lever or, better still, the little steering-wheel control, can be slammed into the requisite notch with the absolute confidence that no ill results will follow.

The problem of the old-fashioned gear-change has been the cause of many crashes in the past, for it is so often tended to engross the driver's attention. Thus cars with the new simple-change system are definitely safer.

In addition to that, they enable the "non-mechanically minded" to get better results from his vehicle.

To some cognoscenti this is humbly offensive, for they deplore the reduction in the scope for personal skill. But they may take heart in one unalterable fact. The mechanism has yet to be devised which will not exclusively yield its best to understanding and sympathetic control. Even with so-called "Robot" transmission the good driver will easily excel the indifferent.

Most of us want to get the "best out of" our cars, and we should be satisfied that those things are real improvements which make for the lessening of muscular effort, for decrease of noise and fuss, for swift and certain control, and for generally enhanced performance.

Automobile engineers have long recognised that, given the fool-proof, multi-speed gear-box that would always do exactly what it was told, the small, low-taxed, low-running-cost chassis could be made to do, without effort or other disadvantage, what formerly was expected only of a much more powerful affair.

This consummation they now have in several practical expressions, and it is good to see that the British technicians are taking all the benefits they can from it. The latest sort of gear-box has been devised in deference to popular opinion—and in motorcars, as in all other things, vox populi is inevitably right.

It has been asking for "safer motoring"; and it is going to get it.

How many light car owners, I wonder, realise that after they have driven hard for even a moderate number of miles, the temperature of the oil in the crankcase reaches practically that of boiling water—202 degrees Fahrenheit. Formerly the oil temperature rarely exceeded 140 degrees.

With cheap oil this high temperature spells "troubles," because there is a tendency for carbon deposits to collect in the crankcase, with a real danger of the oil's becoming choked, and so restricting the circulation of the oil.

Manufacturers have solved the problem by producing an oil with greater resistance to heat than the cheaper varieties, and motorists who want to avoid having their bearings worn out are well advised to be careful in their selection of oils.

LORD WAKEFIELD'S MISS ENGLAND III.

FIVE GALLONS A MINUTE PETROL CONSUMPTION.

Lord Wakefield's Miss England III, in which Mr. Kaye Don recently achieved a world's record of 119.81 m.p.h. at Loch Lomond is, in relation to her weight and size, the most powerful craft ever built. After the trials at Lake Garda, she was equipped with two new Rolls-Royce engines, exactly similar to the engines fitted to the Schneider Trophy seaplane in which Flight-Lieutenant Stainforth last year established a world's speed record of 407.5 m.p.h.

Four Thousand Horse Power.

This engine is a modified and improved version of the R-type motor engine first evolved for the Schneider Trophy Contest in 1922. It has 12 cylinders, with a bore and stroke of 6 in. by 6.6 in., and was developed from the 825 h.p. Buzzard engine.

The engines are, of course, supercharged, each supercharged rotor in Miss England III, rotating at 25,000 r.p.m.

At a crankshaft speed of 3,200 r.p.m., the power output of each of the two engines in Miss England III is 2,200 h.p. giving a total of 4,400 h.p. The weight of each engine is only 1,830 lbs., so that the power weight ratio is roughly only 13 ounces per brake horse power, compared with nine to ten lbs. in an ordinary car.

Over 300 Gallons an Hour.

Fuel consumption at full throttle is at the rate of over 300 gallons an hour—or five gallons a minute. Miss England III carries 250 gallons, sufficient for about 40 minutes running.

Gear-box in the Bows.

The drive from each engine is taken forward to separate gear-boxes in the bows, and thence downwards and sternwards to twin propellers rotating at 7,600 r.p.m. The engines are started up by compressed air.

The gear-boxes and the transmission, as well as the engines, are water-cooled, and the temperature is recorded on dials on the dashboard.

PAYING FOR BRITAIN'S ROADS.

"THE MOTOR INDUSTRY IS DOING SO."

Here are some points from the 1932 edition of The Motor Industry of Great Britain, issued by the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders of Great Britain, Ltd.

The figures of road costs and of direct and indirect motor vehicle taxation afford some indication of the fact that during the past few years special motor taxation has gone far in the aggregate to pay for the whole of the road costs of the country.

It is certainly beyond question that during the current year the motor vehicle operator by the special imports, and apart altogether from his direct contribution to the rate or to the Exchequer, will have created a revenue far exceeding the total expenditure on the roads of Great Britain.

Since the inception of the Road Fund no less than £277,000,000 had been paid indirectly, if not directly, by the produce of special taxation of the various classes of road vehicles.

The total production has risen from 35,000 vehicles in 1922 to 225,307 vehicles for the year ended September, 1931.

Despite depression, it is not expected that sales of home-produced vehicles in the United Kingdom will show a greater decrease in 1932 than four per cent.

NEAR AND FAR

Singer Exports to New Zealand.

The motor trade of New Zealand has swung completely to the United Kingdom car, and during the four years 1928, 1929, 1930, and 1931, Singer cars have in each successive year showed increases on the preceding year.

For Touching Up.

Owners of cars finished in Bristol cellulose lacquer may be interested to learn that this preparation is now available suitable for application by brush for touching-up scratched wings and other signs of wear and tear.

It is obtainable from Brown Bros., Ltd., Great Eastern Street, E.C.2, in the identical colours used by the car manufacturing the correct shade for his purpose.

Two sizes of tins are available, costing 2s. and 3s. 6d. respectively.—Autocar.

Cleaning Sparking Plugs.

With the assistance of an ingenious yet very simple instrument recently introduced by R. E. N. Patents, Ltd., 92, Tottenham Court Road, W.1, an extremely dirty sparking plug can be cleaned in a matter of seconds without the need for dismantling.

Utilising the sand blast principle, the R.E.N. Cyclone plug cleaner, as it is termed, operates from the compressed air supply to be found at most modern garages.

The dirty plug is inserted in a hole in the top of the device, and the air supply turned on; in a few seconds the plug is removed, and it will be found to be perfectly clean throughout, more so than is possible by hand cleaning.

Supplied for fixing to the work bench, and with connection for Schrader chuck, this instrument costs 22s. 6d., or when fitted with lever cock for permanent attachment to the air supply, 27s. 6d.—Autocar.

Praise from Vienna.

"I have pleasure in informing you," writes a professor from Vienna, "that I have undertaken the following journeys with my Morris Minor. In the spring of 1931, a journey from Vienna to South Italy; in autumn 1931, a journey to Paris. This spring I drove across Spain to Morocco and Algiers. With luggage and two passengers, the car has up till now done 34,000 km.—altogether a splendid performance."

Albions to Carry Cocoa Beans.

Considerable numbers of Albions have been in use for some years on cocoa transport in West Africa, where their high factor of reliability and their ability to stand up to rough work have gained for them a great reputation. News is now to hand that Messrs. Cadbury and Fry, of Accra, are increasing their fleet of Albions by the addition of two of the latest 40/45 cwt. models.

Morris Saloon for Raja.

An order for a Morris Major saloon model for H.H. Raja Sahib of Poonch, Kashmir, has been received by Messrs. Walter Locke & Co., Ltd., Lahore. Morris Distributors for the Punjab.

As Poonch is a remote Himalayan state, inaccessible to motor transport, the car, after being conveyed from Rawalpindi to Uri by lorry, will thence have to be carried by coolies for the remaining forty miles over the narrow mountainous paths. It is intended, therefore, to ship the car from England packed in three cases, containing (a) chassis and engine; (b) body; (c) wheels, tools, battery, and so on.

On arrival the car will be assembled, and used within the State of Poonch.

Johannesburg-Juba Epic.

What is claimed to be the most notable performance ever achieved by a "baby" car in South Africa is a recent 8,000 mile journey from Johannesburg to Juba, on the Nile (more than half-way to Cairo), and back, in a standard Morris Minor two-seater (the lowest priced car in the Union), driven by Mr. W. Robbins and Mr. J. Whitehead, of Johannesburg. The car had pre-area being 5ft. under water for 400 miles.

The route lay over very difficult country, rendered still more formidable by torrential rains, yet no serious trouble whatsoever was experienced. At Juba, the Governor of Mongalla Province ordered the car to be turned back, the Sudd area 5ft. under water for 400 miles.

Interesting points in connection with this trip, which took two months to accomplish, were the traversing of a 15-mile belt of tsetse fly, and the firing of buckshot at the swarms in an effort to obtain relief from their attentions; occasional ploughing through grass 12-15ft. high, crawling in first gear throughout a 78-mile deviation, the bogging of the car over the running boards in black cotton soil, and the walking of fourteen miles for drinking water; constant negotiation of deep steep-slopes, and an approximately 40 m.p.g. petrol consumption throughout.

Such a feat on the part of a British small-car has aroused tremendous interest in the Union, where, incidentally, Morris occupied first place in British, and second place in total, April car registrations.

TRIUMPH FOR BRITISH CARS.

T.T. RACE WON AT 74 MILES PER HOUR.

DAY OF THRILLS AND CRASHES.

Belfast, Aug. 21.—A thrilling motor-car speed duel in the International Tourist Trophy Race over the Ards Circuit at Belfast yesterday resulted in a spectacular victory for British cars.

Drivers of Riley cars won the first and second places.

The winner was C. R. Whitcroft, who completed the 410 miles of the course in 4 hrs. 58 min. 4 sec. His average speed for the thirty laps was 74.23 miles per hour—and he beat the second Riley by only 70 seconds.

The result was as follows:—

1. C. R. Whitcroft (Riley), 4 hrs. 58 min. 4 sec. (Average speed, 74.23 miles per hour).
2. G. E. T. Eyston (Riley), 4 hrs. 59 min. 27 sec. (73.90 m.p.h.).
3. E. R. Hall (M.G. Midget), 5 hrs. 7 min. 58 sec. (60.93 m.p.h.).
4. Earl Howe (Alfa Romeo), 5 hrs. 9 min. 56 sec. (60.83 m.p.h.).
5. Sir Henry Birkin (Alfa Romeo), 5 hrs. 12 min. 45 sec. (59.70 m.p.h.).

SPECTATORS NUMBER HALF A MILLION.

RECORD AFTER RECORD BROKEN.

Belfast.—In a race in which all class records were beaten time and again, Riley cars led from start to finish. Only fourteen of the thirty-two starters lasted through a gruelling struggle which was marred by two accidents.

Major Gardner, a veteran driver of small cars, was hurled out of his M.G. Midget as it crashed down a bank and had his thigh broken.

Another car, swerving off the road, dived through a hedge into a garden occupied by spectators. A woman had her hip dislocated and two others were slightly hurt.

Sir Henry Birkin and Lord Howe drove tremendously fast Alfa Romeo cars with great dash. Birkin reduced the lap record established by Boracchini, the Italian crack driver, by no less than 14 secs., covering a difficult circuit in 9 min. 51 sec., a speed of 83.3 m.p.h. But on handicap they were soundly beaten by the two British cars, whose speed of over 74 m.p.h., with 9 horse-power and super-charger, was phenomenal.

M.G. Midgets Unlucky.

Misfortune overtook the M.G. Midgets early. They were fast enough, like the Alfa Romeos, to break their class record again and again.

Descending Bradshaw's Brae, the steep winding hill where so many cars have come "unstuck" in these races, F. S. Barnes (Midget) skidded and swerved just in front of Brian Lewis. The cars actually touched, but Lewis' wonderful skill averted a bad crash.

Barnes, however, struck a big stone with his wheel and had to retire.

Gardner's crash occurred not far off in a mix-up with a Frazer Nash car. His Midget struck the grass edge, shot off the road and hurtled sideways down the bank, turning over four times.

Gardner, who is permanently lame with a war injury, had his leg broken above the knee, and was carried off to join in hospital. R. C. Hamilton, another Midget driver, who was hurt in practice, "Four cars were out of it in the first hour, and ten by two o'clock." (Continued at foot of next column.)

An argument is proceeding amongst certain French motoring enthusiasts as to the best position for the steering wheel. Some say that left-hand steering is correct, and others support the right-hand position, while one motorist has suggested that a central position would be best for all concerned, although this last view is said to have been coldly ignored by the opposing parties.

It is interesting to note that of the 35,000,000 cars at present in use in various parts of the world 31,000,000 have left-hand steering.

Cars large and small were skidding in Cober and the other villages on almost every lap.

One Riley visited the sandbags of the butcher's shop in Cober; another skidded right round and shot into a convenient side street.

Car Turns Over.

Further on a Frazer Nash skidded badly and crashed through the hedge into a garden, where two ladies and a man were injured, but fortunately only slightly.

Dixon, who had had a three-minutes' lead, now began to fall back gradually. Whitcroft and Eyston, driving two of the official Rileys, overhauled him, and at half-past two the great little driver was caught.

A little later, in a desperate endeavour to regain his position, he took Quarry Corner too fast and overturned. He himself was unhurt, but his mechanic had to be taken to hospital.

With sixty miles to go two Rileys were leading, with E. R. Hall (M.G.) some miles behind, third, and Earl Howe fourth. Birkin had had minor engine troubles, which delayed him; in spite of some hectic driving and a new lap record of 9 min. 35 sec.—a speed of 82.9 m.p.h.

THE MOVIES IN CHINA.

RUSSIAN HARBIN APPRECIATES THE AMERICAN TALKIE.

THE NATIVE FILMS.

The outstanding feature in the North Manchurian motion-picture developments during 1931 was the introduction on a large scale of sound and talking pictures, which, contrary to expectation, met with instant and complete success.

One theatre operated by an American picture corporation, took the first step in this direction, and the example was soon followed by others. At present five theatres, having a total of 4,708 seats, are equipped with excellent American machines and their halls adapted for sound pictures. On theatre, a beautiful modern building, was opened to the public in the early part of December, and it is expected that in the near future two more theatres with 2,700 seats will be added to the list. These two are at present showing silent pictures only, but negotiations are now being carried on with regard to the installation of American sound machinery. German equipment experiment with by some of the above theatres proved unsuitable.

Russian and German Films.

Sound films at present are nearly all American. At the same time, Russian and German sound pictures now and then find their way into Harbin. Two German-made sound pictures, with Russian artists, exhibited during the year proved to be very much to the taste of local Russian and Chinese audiences. The few Soviet Russian talking pictures demonstrated here so far were very inferior

WIFE CAN'T BE AN "ANGEL."

AT LEAST, NOT IN VILLAGE PAGEANT.

Do women cease to be "Angels" when they marry?

It has been left to the Baildon, Yorkshire, pageant committee to rouse doubts about this.

They have decided that married women shall be barred as being unsuitable for the part of the Angel of Peace, the leading role of the village pageant. It was announced that an eighteen-year-old girl had been selected.

And the task of choosing the angel from a number of candidates was left to a married woman!

All the other wives of the village have rebelled against the view that their appearance was not angelic enough for the role, and it is likely that more will be heard from them before the pageant is staged.

from a technical point of view, but draw large audiences because local Russians are anxious to see anything that reminds them of their country.

Russians, who constitute most of the audiences at Harbin, rapidly have come to appreciate the talking picture, in spite of the fact that the language is unfamiliar to them. The musical feature is the deciding factor, and the technical perfection of the American machinery has eliminated to a great extent unnatural and coarse sounds. Subtitles are given in the Russian language, in order that the public may more easily follow the development of the story on the screen. Chinese, however, continue to prefer the silent picture, principally because their ears are not attuned to foreign music.

JAPAN'S FIVE YEAR PLAN

IRON INDUSTRY AS CENTRE OF GOVERNMENT SCHEME.

Tokyo, Sept. 17.—A five year industrial scheme, with the iron industry as centre, is to be pushed by the Government. The Department of Commerce and Industry will draw up its budget for next year on these lines.

The matter was discussed at a Departmental Council when it was agreed that the Government should draw up a definite industrial policy, on a five-year basis, with the iron industry as the backbone and the textile and chemical industries as the two wings. All existing industries are to be controlled either by the Industrial Control Law, or by establishing special organisations. For such new industries as aluminium and magnesium, the Government is to give subsidies.

It was also agreed that the Department should establish a trade policy for development of markets in the Orient, the South Seas, South Africa and Central America.

As relief measures for small merchants and industrialists, it is suggested that the Government should consider the establishment of a central depository so as to smooth finance, and establish some definite plan for adjustment of debts. Control of small mines is also deemed necessary.

It has also been arranged that the Government should take some measures to encourage inventions, as well as the completion of research laboratories. — Japan Chronicle.

SHOREHAM BOAT TRAGEDY.

BLIND MAN IN SEA HEARS FRIEND DROWNING.

Shoreham, Sussex.—Flung from a capsized boat, over a mile from the shore, a man who was blinded in the war fought for life last month.

Sightless and unable to swim, he could hear the dying struggles of a friend trapped under the capsized boat.

The blind man, Arthur Walter Blaker, aged 51, and a friend named Charles P. White, of Cecil Road, Lancing, Sussex, were saved.

Their companion, Ronald Gunter, aged 36, of Brighton Road, Lancing, was drowned. He was married and leaves three children, the youngest only 18 months old.

Hundreds of holiday-makers on Lancing beach and passengers on the Worthing-Brighton omnibuses saw the tragedy.

As he lay in bed at his home in Penhill Road, Blaker gave a graphic account of his terrible experience.

Tipped Into Sea.

"I had gone out for an afternoon's fishing with my two chums," he said, "and was sitting quietly in the boat when, without warning, I felt myself tipped into the sea."

"I cannot swim a stroke, but I felt someone hold me up and realised that Charlie was alongside."

"We both hung on and the boat began to roll over and over with our weight on it."

"All three of us then shouted for help at the top of our voices."

"I knew the boat was falling on us like the lid on a saucepan, and once underneath I should be done for, but Charlie, the only one of us who could swim, kept my courage up and kept me away from the boat as it rolled."

"Then I realised that Gunter had been sucked underneath and was fighting for his life. It is the most terrifying experience I have ever had."

"I am told it was 20 minutes until we were rescued. To me it seemed like years."

"I felt a boat draw alongside and I was lifted into it."

"The man who lifted me into the boat saved my life in similar fashion before the war."

White said simply, "It was tough and go. I am a poor swimmer and had my hands filled with Blaker."

Both White and Blaker, though exhausted, helped to lift Gunter into the boat, and then took an oar each to rush him to shore, where artificial respiration was applied in vain for over 2½ hours.

STRANGE TOKYO SUICIDE.

"I DIE PRAYING FOR WORLD PEACE."

Tokyo, Sept. 4.—Suicides in Japan are nothing extraordinary. Indeed, they are so common that the papers merely dismiss them with a line or two, unless there is something abnormal in the crime.

A strange suicide occurred this week in Tokyo, when the proprietor of a billiard parlour shot himself at his home, on a platform decorated with straw fastoons and flowers.

He left a will which reads:—

"Wake up everybody! The alarm bell is ringing to warn us of the outbreak of the worst crisis that has yet befallen humanity. Nothing but introspection and co-operation will save us from the calamity that is threatening everyone and everything. Send my body to the Imperial University to be used for scientific research. Scatter my ashes over the Pacific Ocean. I die praying for world peace."

After building the platform on which he intended taking his life, the suicide fasted for three weeks and, the day prior to shooting himself, sent his family to the home of a relative. The authorities infer from this that his act was not undertaken in a sudden fit of mental depression, but was a cold and calculated one.

On the same day that he sent his family to stay with a relative, that is to say the day before he purportedly taking his life, he sent pamphlets entitled "Prayer for World Peace" to the Prime Minister, the members of the Cabinet, all the newspapers and to the rich men of the country, warning the last-named in particular that a dire fate threatens them if they do not see the error of their ways and "make retribution to the poor."

SENT TO ANDAMANS.

WHAT HAPPENS TO INDIAN TERRORISTS.

Calcutta, Aug. 15.—A batch of 25 convicted prisoners, including 11 of the Chittagong Armoury Raid case, has been transferred to the Andamans this morning.

The batch also includes a prisoner convicted in the Asanullah case (Chittagong) and Bimal Das Gupta, convicted for the attempt on the life of Mr. E. Villiers, president of the European Association.

It is stated that relatives of the prisoners were allowed to interview them yesterday.

On the same day that he sent his family to stay with a relative, that is to say the day before he purportedly taking his life, he sent pamphlets entitled "Prayer for World Peace" to the Prime Minister, the members of the Cabinet, all the newspapers and to the rich men of the country, warning the last-named in particular that a dire fate threatens them if they do not see the error of their ways and "make retribution to the poor."

The Children's Corner

BY UNCLE JACK

OVER THE SIDE.

When a man comes up with a bêche-de-mer he swims alongside the cutter and places it on board. Whenever they feel like it, they get up on board and rest and eat. Sometimes they stretch out on the deck and sleep a while. Time is nothing to them.

In the evening, the bêche-de-mer found during the day is cleaned, boiled and placed in the curing-house—a smoke-box, really, standing on the deck. The fuel is usually timber obtained from mangrove swamps on the wild Australian mainland, or from the numerous uninhabited islands all about. After which, all hands sit around and "yarn" over the doings of the day, or chant sea songs of their own making; or maybe some will get down into the dinghy, or small boat, and go off in search of giant turtles or a dugong—a kind of sea cow—not because they need food, but in response to the call of the clear, warm night.

"No Fear!"

And with all this carelessness and childlike glee, great courage. In illustration, let me tell of what happened to one of these natives. On the bottom, at six fathoms, this man looked up to see the gray-green bulk of a huge shark between him and the surface. Panic assailed him, but he fought it down, kicked up the mud on the bottom, thereby clearing the water, and started up for the surface, the idea being that the shark would not see him on the clouded water. But the cloud was not thick enough, and the shark did see him. It's great bulk turned and came at him. The man tried to out-swim it. The surface was still three fathoms away.

He side-slipped and twisted, as only an expert Torres Island "swim-diver" can, but he had no chance. It was only after a desperate encounter that the man finally got away when, on reaching the surface, he was a once taken on board the cutter. It was a narrow escape, but the experience did not deter him from taking up his swim-diving again.

"That shark been think he can stop me from my work!" he said to me, in the queer tongue known as bêche-de-mer English. "But he not can do that! No fear!"

There was a whole lot of real courage back of that remark.

TAI HANG VILLAGE MURDER

RECENT TRAGEDY RECALLED

YOUNG LEATHER-WORKER CHARGED

What happened in the household of Mr. Leung Wing Soon in the early hours of the morning of September 6, when an armed intruder found his way into the house, was recounted by Mr. R. E. Lindsell at Central Magistracy yesterday, when a young Chinese, named Li Kap Ting, was charged before Mr. Schofield with the murder of Leung Si Sau.

The murdered man was the second son of Mr. Leung Wing Soon and it was alleged in Mr. Lindsell's opening of the case, that he was done to death by the intruder before he had a chance to sound a warning or even utter a cry of any kind.

Mr. Lindsell said that at about 6 a.m. on September 6, Mrs. Leung was awakened by the screeching of a parrot which was kept in a cage on the verandah. She was sleeping in the rear cubicle at the time and called out to an amah who was in the front cubicle to go out and see what was the matter. The amah went to investigate and it was while she was bending over the parrot's cage that she heard a movement behind her. She turned round and saw a Chinese male dressed in white singlet and shorts. She called out "Ai Yah" and immediately received two fierce blows on her head with some sharp instrument. She shrieked and the intruder, whom the Crown proved was the accused, then appeared to have completely lost his head. He immediately went into the front cubicle and then attacked two other women, another amah and her friend, who was stopping the night there. Hearing a disturbance, the father came to the rescue from the rear cubicle and he also a man in white singlet and shorts, tried to seize him. He was struck and wounded in the head, though not severely.

Jumped Over Verandah

Mr. Lindsell said that the father saw the intruder drop over the south corner of the verandah. He looked into the street but was unable to distinguish anything further. A hawkler living on the ground floor of the house, saw something like a human form drop over the verandah of the house.

The alarm was immediately raised and police whistles were blown. The mother had gone out by this time to the leather factory at which the Crown would prove that the accused was employed, to telephone for a doctor. When she returned she was joined by her husband in the front room and they then discovered the body of their unfortunate son lying dead beside a settee in the position he was subsequently found by the police. He seemed to have fallen without a sound. There was no evidence of any cry having been heard from him. The cause of his death would be shown to have been caused by a deep wound on the left side of his neck which cut right through the artery. The youth died of hemorrhage and shock.

At this time, said Mr. Lindsell, a Chinese constable was on duty in Tai Hang Village. He was attracted to the scene by the whistles and realising what had happened, he telephoned Bay View Police Station for assistance. On the arrival of Sub-Inspector Rogers from that station, he was immediately detailed to go down below to watch and see if he can find any weapon. He made a search and just outside No. 38, he found the weapon, a leather-maker's knife. It bore what were apparently bloodstains. Its blade was very much chipped at one corner. According to the medical evidence, the wound on the deceased's neck and the wound on the amah and other women, could well have been inflicted by the same weapon and it was a significant fact that from the skull of the deceased was extracted certain fragments of steel, one of which fitted in with the chip on the near-side of the knife.

Police Search

Discovering the nature of this knife—a leather worker's knife—the police at about 11 a.m. on September 6, visited the premises of Pk (Continued on next column).

CCAL THIEVES SENTENCED

CREW OF LAUNCH CONVICTED

At the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday, Mr. J. A. Fraser gave his decision in the case in which seven men were charged in connection with the theft of coal from the China Navigation Company's steam launch Tai Koo Law on the evening of August 3.

The first five defendants, comprising the crew of the launch, were charged with larceny of four baskets of coal, while the other two defendants, coxswain and assistant coxswain of the launch Hong Kong Hotel, were charged with receiving stolen property.

Mr. D. B. Evans prosecuted the China Navigation Co., while Mr. M. A. Silva appeared on behalf of the first five defendants and Mr. Horace Lo for the other two.

In giving judgment, his Worship, in the course of a lengthy resume of the case, said he had considered the case very carefully and had gone fully into the evidence. If the defence had put up a reasonable story, his Worship was bound to believe them, but under the circumstances, he found he could not. He must therefore convict them all.

Both Mr. Silva and Mr. Lo pleaded for leniency on behalf of their clients.

Mr. Evans, in answer to his Worship, said he had no objection to the third, fourth, fifth and seventh defendants being treated with leniency, but the case against the first, second and sixth defendants was more serious, as they held the responsible positions in the two launches involved. The others were only subordinate.

His Worship passed sentence of three months' hard labour on the first, second and sixth defendants, while the rest were fined $25, or one month, each.

A Wing Koo leather factory at 37 and 38 Causeway Bay Road. They saw many similar knives lying about and in use. They mustered the fokis and obtained the wages book and found one person, whose name appeared there, missing. At that time only a cursory search was made of the premises.

At midnight that same night, a Chinese constable obtained certain information; he returned to the factory and went up the first floor of No. 38 and behind a number of suitcases, the accused lay hidden. He had injuries to his lip, both arms and legs, most of which were consistent with a fall from a height. He had on a white singlet and shorts and there were large bloodstains which could not have been caused by his personal injuries. Over his shorts he wore a pair of white trousers and the Crown would prove that these trousers were put on after he returned to his quarters.

It appeared on subsequent investigations that the apprentices in particular and probably all the fokis who were on the floor at No. 38 at the time of this outrage, were in fact accessories after the fact to this murder; that is to say that when the whistles were blowing they saw the accused there, injured and spattered with blood, and they must have known full well that he was in some sort of trouble. The Crown would suggest also that they knew he was the man concerned in the outrage. In spite of all that, they helped him upstairs, hid him and fed him and they also gave misleading information to the police.

Accused's Story

After accused was released from hospital (September 23), he was formally charged and made a statement to the effect that he went to the floor to steal and that he took the knife with him in order to cut open any suitcase if he should come across any such article. The Crown did not disbelieve that. When the tenants crowded round him he lost his head and struck out to right and left but the Crown would show that the tenants did not crowd around him. He had stated that he went to steal because a creditor had pressed him to repay certain debts. Evidence was then called in support of the opening, after which the case was adjourned.

SWATOW NOTES

ALL QUIET ON "HUMILIATION DAY"

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

SWATOW, Sept. 20.

Following the prohibition by the military headquarters, no demonstration was staged last Sunday to mark the first anniversary of the Sino-Japanese conflict in Manchuria. Several meetings took place in the form of reminders of Japanese oppression in various places, under the auspices of the Kuomintang and the Students' Union. The latter's assembly was in the Kwong Tien Theatre, and the military provided guards for protection and control. Denunciation of the Japanese policy generally was the keynote, but nothing unforeseen happened.

Government buildings and several private houses flew the national flag at half-mast as a mark of respect for those who fought and died in Manchuria. The majority of police officers were mourning lands throughout the day, maintaining order and preventing unpleasantness. Everywhere were posters condemning Japanese imperialism, and one hour silence, from 11 to 12 noon, has to be observed by the Chinese.

The "Reds."

Report have been received that the "Reds" are again advancing on Taipo from the Fukien border. Counter measures are being taken and soldiers have been despatched to the vicinity. In the city here there are hundreds of these undesirable and their movements are closely watched by the police.

Further arrests have been made of those concerned in the Kwong Tien theatre bomb case recently. They are suspected to be accomplices of "Reds." As the result of a bomb which exploded in Kwong Tien without any serious results it has suffered a loss in its audiences. It might be on this account that the theatre has suspended business.

Canton Officials

Messrs. Sia and Lim, two prominent officials of the Provincial Government in Canton, arrived here this morning and were met by high officials. They took up residence at the Palace Hotel, the environs of which are being strongly guarded. No one is allowed to go past the hotel. What their mission is nobody appears to know, but I learn that they are on their way to Siam, catching the steamer from Swatow.

GOVT. MESSENGER CHARGED

ALLEGED RECEIVER OF STOLEN CAMERA

The recovery of a camera lost by Mr. B. L. Falconer, a round-the-world tourist, led to the arrest of a messenger employed at the Treasury who was charged yesterday with receiving a camera.

Detective Sergeant Hemmley applied for a remand until to-day in order to secure witnesses. He said the complainant had already left the Colony for good, but it was hoped to prove that the camera belonged to him. The camera was stolen from the Post Office counter whilst Mr. Falconer was purchasing stamps on September 19, and three days later the defendant took it to a photographer in Queen's Road for repairs, remarking that it belonged to a friend. The camera being of a new type, the photographer intimated that he knew little about it, but it was left at the shop.

Later, Mr. Way, of the Manufacturers' Life Co., went to the shop and was shown the camera. He offered to make enquiries for the photographer and took it to Schmidt and Co., who informed the police. The defendant was subsequently traced and arrested. Evidence would be given that he was in the Post Office on the day in question. The case was adjourned until to-day.

C.S.C.C. REPORT

YEAR'S ACTIVITIES REVIEWED

COACH REQUIRED FOR YOUNG CRICKETERS

The Report and Statement of Accounts, issued by the Committee of the Hong Kong Civil Service Cricket Club, state, inter alia—

The year under review will figure prominently in the annals of the Club as a year of financial difficulties without precedence and it is hoped without recurrence.

To achieve the objective of a new Pavilion the finances of the Club have been strained to the last resource, and it was only made possible to meet our commitments in respect of the building and necessary furnishing by the support of some of the members to the "Building Loan."

The Building Fund Reserve, a legacy to former years, amounting to $10,062.44 was augmented by a grant from the Hong Kong Government of $10,000, making a total sum available, with interest, of $20,121.11. It will be observed from the accounts that the actual cost of the Pavilion, Furniture, Fittings, etc., including an Electric Clock kindly presented by our President, was $24,845.06. There was thus a deficit of $4,061.95 which has been met from General Account assisted by the "Building Loan" amounting to $2,125.00.

It is a matter of gratification to your Committee that we have been able to enter into possession of the new Pavilion having fully discharged our liabilities to the Contractors, but there remains the liability on the "Building Loan" which must be liquidated before we can claim a complete discharge of our responsibilities.

The profit on the year's working as represented by the Income and Expenditure Account is $748.28.

The gross profit on the Bar Account $3,481.13 represents 31.69 per cent.

During the season 42 members resigned (which includes 18 members having left the Colony), and 17 members failed to comply with Rule 37 and consequently lost their membership, of those eight left the Colony without giving the required notice, whilst 24 gentlemen joined the club including five rejoining members. The membership of the Club on the 31st July, 1932, was 187 this includes six life members and subscribing members.

New Pavilion

The outstanding event of the year was the opening of the new pavilion by Lady Peel on the 26th December, 1931. There was a large gathering of members and friends at the pavilion. Among those present were the Hon. Mr. W. T. Southern, O.M.G., and Mrs. Southern, Mr. D. W. Tatham, O.M.G., and Mrs. Tatham, Mrs. G. R. Sayer, Mr. A. E. Wood, Acting President of the Club, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. O. Bird, Mr. A. O. Brown, Chairman of the General Committee, Mr. B. E. Maughan, Hon. Treasurer to the Club, Mr. H. P. Strange, Hon. Secretary and Members of the General Committee.

Cricket

The past season was very disappointing the Club dropping from 2nd to last place in the league. This was chiefly due to failure in the batting, as, with the exception of Mr. J. E. Richardson, no one had an aggregate exceeding 200. Of the seven league matches played, one was won, one tied, and five lost; while of the nine friendlies, two were won, one drawn, and six lost. We offer our congratulations to Messrs. J. E. Richardson and R. A. J. Simpson on heading the batting and bowling averages respectively. The outstanding performances of the season were Mr. J. E. Richardson's 129 not out v. Hong Kong Volunteer Defence Corps and 100 v. Kowloon Cricket Club, and in the bowling, Mr. E. B. Reed's 6 for 20 v. Royal Artillery, Mr. F. Baker's 4 for 12 v. Hong Kong Cricket Club and Mr. R. A. J. Simpson's 4 for 12 v. Navy.

The holding was, on the whole, rather better than the previous season but there is still plenty of room for improvement. It is hoped that considerably more keenness for cricket will be shown throughout the Club to enable us to put up a better show next season.

The 2nd XI. had a very poor season if our position in the League table is to be the standard by which we are to be judged; for the first time in the history of the Club we occupied the bottom position in the league, however, all our games were very enjoyable and the majority of them were very close finishes, and as we play mostly for the exercise to be obtained from the game our league position is of secondary consideration.

League Matches played.—10—

Won 0, Lost 6, Drawn 4.

Friendlies play.—6—Won 3, Lost 3, Drawn 3.

Mr. A. E. Wood and Mr. S. Randle heads the batting and bowling averages respectively and we accord them our congratulations.

It is a great pleasure to record that we had Mr. R. E. O. Bird in the team on three occasions during the season, and although he did not "run through" our opponents as he used to prior to his retirement, he did, when he was able to command the swing of his arm, make the ball turn very sharply in from leg which greatly worried the batsmen. Mr. Bird's temporary reappearance on our little green patch certainly brought back very happy memories of his great feats with the cricket ball in league and interport matches.

There are several young members of the Club that require to be taken in hand if their cricket is to be of real value later on. Who will volunteer to act as coach to the younger school of cricketers? Practice at the nets is strongly recommended and it is hoped that during the ensuing season that such practice will not be so badly neglected as in the past.

Tennis

The season under review, from a league point of view, was not a very successful one. The absence on leave of the Club's Single Tennis Champion, Mr. J. Barrow, was severely felt in league and friendly games.

The Annual Tournaments attracted a large number of entries and members obtained excellent sport from the events. The Handicappers are to be congratulated on their judgment with handicaps as more than 75 per cent. of the games went the full distance before a decision was reached. Perseverance was justly rewarded in the case of Mr. F. W. Bradley who succeeded in winning the Club Championship on his third consecutive appearance in the Final. He enjoyed a most successful season as he also won the Singles Handicap for the third time in succession. We offer our heartiest congratulations to him. Mr. G. W. A. Tufton is to be congratulated on reaching the Final of the Single Championship event, also Mr. J. A. Bendall who was a finalist in three events, viz., Singles Handicap, Men's Doubles and Mixed Doubles. We wish Mr. Bendall and his partners better luck in future.

It is regretted that lack of support prevented the Ladies Singles Handicap from becoming one of the annual events; but there is every prospect of the event taking place next season. We look to the ladies for their co-operation in making this event the success it deserves.

Bowls

The activities of the Bowls Section have been restricted by the necessity of playing the Green and resting it for a year. This has had some effect on our bowlers as shown by their subdued enthusiasm for practice. Yet the Club is to be congratulated on the results generally obtained and the Green Ranger on the very passable rinks he supplied on the cricket practice ground. At one time both teams were serious competitors for the premier positions in the League, but fell away in the latter part of the season. Two of our members reached the quarter finals and one the semi-final of the Open Championship. Our Bowls Cup team also reached the semi-final stage. It is hoped that next season with a new and really vibrant green adjacent to the pavilion we shall do better and attain our ambition by heading the 1st division of the League. We have a number of young and promising bowlers who should be of much assistance to us next year.

MY LADY'S DRESS.

A CERTAIN perturbation has been caused by the announcement that Mr. CHEN CHAO YING, one of China's elder statesmen, disapproves of the fashions favoured by his countrywomen, and intends to enforce his ideas by using the legislative machinery of the Republic. The slip skirt, particularly distasteful to Mr. CHEN CHAO YING, but he goes much further than that, short skirts and sleeveless frocks also coming within the bounds of his displeasure. Some of us no doubt feel a certain sympathy with the ladies of Mr. CHEN CHAO YING's household, for his pronounced objectives are, on the positive side, the use of homespun cloth and uniformity in female dress. Bright colours and the whole art of the designer are to go. Moreover, since Mr. CHEN is an important member of the Legislative Yuan, and has held his seat on that august body since 1925, it is safe to assume that he is a gentleman of unusual parts and persistence, quite capable of exercising the necessary dominion over his own household to secure a practical demonstration of new modes, no doubt designed under his direct supervision, to express the seriousness of the times. However, it is a mistake to suppose that all a lady wants is to be in the fashion. It is a far better thing to lead the fashion, and to be the first to wear the models that will afterwards be copied in thousands, and even millions for the rest of the world. Is there not a precedent for Mr. CHEN's ideal in English history, when the womanfolk of the Stuart days forsook the frivolities of the court for garments, not wholly unbecoming, but more in accord with the sterner outlook that was to make England of the Protectorate the tower of Europe. Do the innovations of Mr. CHEN CHAO YING presage such a Puritan revival in China, and the inauguration of an Ironside age? It may be said that the Puritan dress followed the Puritan Revolution, but after all, there is no reason why the process should not be reversed. It is an old adage that "clothes make the man," and how much more do they create the women!

There are those who doubt man's power over woman, when a frock is at stake. Women have a way of vague evasion, and a power of making traitors in the enemy's camp. There are men, we fear, who like the fashion! On the other hand, it is well to recall that in Europe some years ago, when women were vowing that never again would they allow long skirts to tether their new found liberty, that the Head of the Roman Catholic Church issued a ban on skirts, that failed to cover the knees. A hush fell. A few laughed, but to-day skirts again sweep the ground at dances, and even in daytime not much more than ankle visibility is allowed. It is said that "the trade," anxious to sell double or treble as much cloth, was the Church's stoutest ally, but be that as it may the result is the same; modesty triumphs, voluminous skirts delight both the moralist and the weaver.

What is modesty? A Victorian rake, who outlived his age, described it as "the first of the Seven Deadly Virtues." He instanced the well-worn case of the women of the South Sea Islands, who were both moral and healthy till the missionaries put them into calico petticoats. Modern missionaries, we believe, make full acknowledgment of the error, and hold that honi soit qui mal y pense. Our Victorian rake, however, lamented the passing of the Albanian and the Empire promenade, with the coming of short skirts. The times, he said, were out of joint.

No foreigner, man or woman, has ever criticised Chinese fashions. We are lost in admiration for them. How quickly they change, and the sign of right for one mode is lost in welcome for the successor! The lovely broadens remain, vivid as flower petals, and as becoming to their wearers, but the shapes and

DEFENCE SEEKS APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL

THREE MONTHS' POSTPONE-MENT OF EXECUTION

It is understood that H.E. the Governor is to grant a respite of three months in the execution of the death sentence passed upon Cheng Kwok Yau, who was recently convicted for procuring the murder of George Fung on March 24 last.

The respite is granted in order that an application for leave to appeal to the Privy Council may be made to London.

Neither the local courts nor H.E. the Governor has the authority to grant leave to appeal to the Privy Council whose Judicial Committee alone can decide whether or not it will hear an appeal from the Crown Colonies in a criminal case.

In the event of the Privy Council deciding to hear the appeal, a further respite in the sentence may be granted. The appeal can be lodged on any ground, on law, or on facts. The right to appeal is not confined to the reserved points which were argued in the Full Court.

AT THE PENINSULA

SUCCESSFUL SYMPHONY CONCERT.

A JAPANESE PRODIGY.

It is seldom that one has the opportunity of hearing such an accomplished musical genius as the young Japanese Xylophonist in the person of Master Saduo Iwai, known as the "Virtuoso" of the Xylophone, who gave a magnificent recital at Sunday night's Symphony Concert at the Peninsula Hotel.

With full orchestral accompaniment, he played a Fantasia, "William Tell," by Krueger and the "American Patrol," by Meacham. In both these pieces, young Saduo's masterful and clever playing carried the audience to the highest pitch of enthusiasm, appreciation being manifested in prolonged applause and accolades, the artist responding with repetitions in part on each occasion. His third contribution, "Hungarian Rhapsody" by Liszt, was with excellent piano accompaniment by Madame Iwai, his mother, who is an accomplished pianist. This met with equal success and the audience's demand for more brought the performer to play "Home Sweet Home" with variations.

At the conclusion of a very enjoyable programme of orchestral numbers, which all earned hearty applause, the young Xylophonist was prevailed upon to play "Long Ago" with Madame Iwai accompanying and the lounge again resounded with hearty and prolonged applause.

By special request, the orchestra rendered as a final, "Land of Hope and Glory" with the usual success. Altogether the entertainment was excellent and afforded a thoroughly enjoyable evening.

Argyll's Band Next Sunday.

At next Sunday's Symphony Concert, by kind permission of Lieut. Col. N. C. Bennett, O.B.E., M.C., and the Officers, 2nd Battalion the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, the band of this Regiment will provide the entire entertainment, under the direction of Bandmaster, Mr. C. F. Best, A.R.C.M.

This musical unit, shortly to leave for North China, with their Regiment, will render a programme of specially selected musical numbers, which will be announced later and include, viola, stirring pieces, suites by the combined pipes and band, many popular compositions, and songs by Pipe Major Sinclair. In all there will be about twenty items.

Owing to the expense involved, it is announced that a fee of $1 per person will be charged, payable on admission, and tables or seats may be booked in advance at the Peninsula Hotel.

Lion Scaring.

Lion-scaring is now prohibited in Kruger National Park, South Africa. The authorities probably will put up signs for the benefit of the lions—Beware of motorists.

Fancy.

Soap in fancy wrappers is to be sold for the benefit of the Democratic campaign fund. Will that be a step toward clean politics?—Christian Science Monitor.

Lumber Sales Trust.

Practically all difficulties have been removed in the way of forming a lumber selling trust among the five chief timber growing states of Europe, namely, the Little Belts, Poland and Austria. The purpose of this organization is to win back some of the markets which have been lost to Russia.

The states in question would be glad to have the Soviets enter the trust also, but there seems to be little hope, since the Russians are not inclined to limit their steadily growing production of lumber.

Scotland vs Germany.

The "Scotman" type of yarn has reached Germany. Here are some told in Berlin: Three Scotmen went fishing and agreed that whoever caught the first fish should stand drinks. Two of them had bites but didn't pull in their lines. The third took the precaution of not baiting his hook.

A famous Scottish football team dissolved. Someone had stolen the football.

A man presented a through ticket on the Aberdeen tramways. The conductor looked at it and said, "This ticket dates back to the days of the horse-tram." "I ken that," replied the passenger, "but it doesn't say when the journey has to be completed, and I've been in Canada the last twenty years."

London's Best.

99 was the figure recorded at Greenwich Observatory at 3 p.m. on August 19. This was the highest figure since August 8, 1911, when the Observatory recorded 100—the peak figure during the 26 years in which statistics have been kept.

The 95.2 recorded at Negretti and Zambra's, in Holborn, was the highest figure on record in London itself.

Only one case of enteric was reported over the week-end.

A little child strapped on the back of a woman who was knocked down by a motor car, was killed on Sunday afternoon in Queen's Road West. The mother escaped serious injuries.

A fine of $500, or, in default, three months' hard labour was the sentence passed by Mr. Wynne Jones yesterday on a woman who was convicted of the possession of 4,457 pu pills.

In attempting to alight from a tramcar whilst it was in motion on Sunday, a young Chinese, of Holy Cross Path, received injuries to his head and was taken to the Government Civil Hospital for treatment.

A fine of $50, or, in default, six weeks' hard labour, was the sentence passed by Hon. Comdr. Holt on a Chinese housewife who was convicted of having allowed her boat to be used for carrying prostitutes to ships in Harbour.

Mr. H. R. Butters occupied the Bench at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday. It was understood that Mr. J. A. Fraser, who has been Police Magistrate in Kowloon since July last year, has been transferred to the Attorney-General's Office.

The offices of Messrs. Caddick Macgregor & Co., Ltd., were closed yesterday afternoon as a mark of respect to the late Mrs. Laurel Pereira, wife of Mr. O. J. M. Pereira, chief clerk of the Hong Kong branch for many years, who passed away on Saturday night last.

★ News and Views ★

It was a shade above the figure reached in 1911, when the 100 mark was reached at Greenwich.

There are records of 95 degrees being reached in 1861 and 1881—the only other known occasions when the thermometer has gone so high.

A notice was posted in the Bank of England intimating that the clerks could work in their shirt-sleeves in any office to which the public does not have admission.

Bare-legged Tennis.

Nowhere is the downfall of Mrs. Grundy more emphasised than on the tennis courts at Home. When during the Hard Court Championships of 1930 at St. Andrews, Miss Ingram, an English player, appeared bare-legged she created quite a sensation. At this year's tournament, only two seasons later, stockings were the exception, and at least one lady played without even tennis socks.

A White Year.

The workmanlike kit of the ladies is most marked, white ensembles being the general rule, with pique the favourite fabric. If any colours appeared they almost always denoted a "rabbit." An exception occurred one day, however, when the morning being cooler, four of the leading ladies' doubles players went on with coloured woollies over their white suits. The vivid colour effect did not appeal to the pressmen, who found it difficult to follow the play.

Balmoral's Memorial Cairns.

Guests visiting Balmoral for the first time are apt to be astonished by the number of memorial cairns scattered about the estate. Queen Victoria had a great liking for memorialising friends and events in this fashion.

The first cairn was erected to commemorate the purchase of the estate. It was followed by a huge pile of loose granite slabs to the memory of the Prince Consort, and another to mark the spot where the Marquis of Lorne proposed to Princess Louise in 1870.

Other cairns commemorate Princess Alice, the Duke of Albany, the Duke of Clarence, and Prince Henry of Battenburg. All over the ground, too, there are inscribed tablets, sent, &c., to the memory of the great Queen's friends, and even to some of her favourite animals.

Naval Training in Sail.

A naval correspondent to a Home paper writes:—

It looks as if Sir Bolton Eyres-Monsell is beginning to hedge on the unfortunate decision to waste money on building sailing craft and training sailors in masts and sails. The whole question was fought out years ago, and it is most unfortunate that the navy should have this controversy all over again. The Admiralty are now inquiring whether there are any officers or men who have already had experience of sailing craft who can be trained preparatory to training others when the ships are built. It all sounds like a training in mythology, because navigation has something to do with the stars on occasion.

However, there is the bolthole for my Lords in that they cannot find the instructors, and it is to be hoped that Admiral Sir Ernle Chatfield will give the whole of these retrograde proposals a decent burial when he becomes First Sea Lord. Even forty to fifty years ago the midshipment, realising the obsolete character of this instruction, could never be induced to learn more of this "seamanship" than was required for examination purposes.

Blood and Iron.

Soviet Russia has established a class of capital offences against industry. A man who wrecked a trolley by throwing in a steel hook has been sentenced to be shot, as were two men who derailed a train, and others who showed violence against a collective farm.

Tammany Restive.

Albany, N.Y., witnesses dramatic scenes as Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt inquires deeply into the financial transactions of Mayor James J. Walker of New York City in the ouster hearing, writes an American paper. The adroitness of the Mayor and his counsel fall before the relentless probing of the Governor, who is declared to have shown an unsuspected ability in the handling of this case. Frequent exclamations of his amazement are seen by some as foreshadowing his eventual ruling. Tammany grows restive, fights back—launches a primary war against the Governor's up-state supporters.

Looking Back 25 Years.

The team race which was on the programme of the V.R.C. annual sports, and which was postponed, was brought off yesterday afternoon, when five teams entered. The teams were the Corinthian Yacht Club, the V.R.C. "A" team, the Royal Hong Kong Yacht Club, the V.R.C. "B" team, and the Royal Garrison Artillery. Four men of the Artillery team took the lead and were closely followed by a number of the V.R.C. "A" team. The Corinthians kept their team level with the others till the last, when they were doing well, and when E. Humphreys, the fourth man took the water, he brought his team level with the others. C. Humphreys, the 100 yards champion, and Cooke were then left, and their swim decided the race in favour of the Corinthian team, whose time was registered at 5 mins. 25 secs. The V.R.C. "A" team, whose time was timed at 5 mins. 45 secs. The teams came in as follows:—
1. Corinthian Yacht Club.
2. V.R.C. "A".
3. Royal Hong Kong Yacht Club.
4. V.R.C. "B".
5. Royal Garrison Artillery.

Looking Back 50 Years.

Little pleasantness passed in the Supreme Court yesterday. Yesterday, the Attorney-General told Mr. Francis, "his truculence in Court was quite intolerable." This was when Mr. Francis was interrupting him in his cross-examination of one of Mr. Francis' witnesses. Later in the day Mr. Francis interposed a remark in the course of the Attorney-General's speech to the effect that "such stuff as that is rubbish." The Attorney-General drew the attention of the Court to Mr. Francis' "elegant remarks," adding that such language was not usual in the Court, and the Chief Justice said he certainly thought such remarks ought not to be made. Another day, when the Attorney-General had made a statement as to certain evidence which had been put in in the case then being heard (Continued on Fronting Column)

GANDHI BREAKS HIS FASTPOONA AGREEMENT APPROVED

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Sept. 26. THE Government have announced that they will recommend Parliament in due course to the adoption of the clauses of the Poona Agreement dealing with representation in the provincial Legislatures in place of the provisions as stated in the Communal Award of August 4.

The announcement adds that the Government has learnt with the greatest satisfaction of the agreement reached and points out that other clauses, such as those dealing with the franchise of the Depressed Classes and the method of electing them are outside the scope of the Communal Award and are still under consideration by the Government.

Terms of Agreement.

LONDON, Sept. 26. In view of the Government's approval thereof it is regarded as a foregone conclusion that Parliament will endorse the agreement between the Caste and "Untouchable" leaders at Poona for the representation of the Depressed Classes under which the latter will, (a), be allotted 148 seats in the Provincial Legislature; (b), have reserved for them a percentage of the seats in the Central Legislature allotted to the general electorate.

Voting in the joint electorate will be preceded by a primary election for a panel of four representatives of the Depressed Classes for each reserved seat.

The system of reserved seats and primary election will be terminated after a decade.

Adequate representation of the Depressed Classes in public services will also be secured.

SIMLA, Sept. 26.

The Government announcement was greeted with loud cheers in the Legislative Assembly.

Gandhi's Condition.

POONA, Sept. 26. Gandhi has not slept well. It is officially stated that his vitality is decidedly lower but he is feeling less nausea and is suffering no acute discomforts.

Gandhi is now preparing to break his fast. His doctors insist that he is first given a small quantity of orange juice and later goat's milk diluted with warm water.

POONA, Sept. 26.

Gandhi has broken his fast.

Threat to Fast Again.

LONDON, Sept. 26. Determination to resort to another fast if it is necessary for the object of rooting out Untouchability from Hinduism, was expressed by the Mahatma Gandhi to-day in a special statement to Reuter's representative.

Gandhi said that if Mr. Ramsay MacDonald accepted the agreement between the Caste Hindus and the Depressed Classes in toto, he (Gandhi) would be obliged to break his fast.

But, he added, the break might merely prove to be a suspension. "I shall certainly retake the vow to fast unto death if the part to be played by the Caste Hindus is not well played during the coming months."

"The tremendous awakening in the country during the past few days, however, fills me with hope and optimism. I am sure that the Caste Hindus will be able to play their part in the coming months."

Gandhi appeared to be much brighter and better than he was yesterday, but his doctor says that he will be unable to fast much longer with sufficient strength for recovery.

It is learned from London that the Poona agreement is being very actively considered by all concerned with the Government's policy, but that no decision has yet been reached.

ACTIVITY AT WHITEHALL

LONDON, Sept. 26. With Gandhi still fasting, Sunday was a day of intense activity at Whitehall.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald and Sir Samuel Hoare, the Secretary of State for India, were busy all through the day examining the Poona Agreement from every angle.

A statement issued late last night said that Mr. MacDonald and Sir Samuel Hoare had been in close communication regarding the answer to be given to the communities concerned in the agreement. Every effort is being made to avoid delay.

DE VALERA REVIEWS WORLD POLITICSAT THIRTEENTH LEAGUE ASSEMBLY

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

GENEVA, Sept. 26. REVIEWING the whole situation in world politics, including the Sino-Japanese and Anglo-Irish disputes, Mr. de Valera inaugurated the Thirteenth League Assembly.

He said the League would undoubtedly be judged by its success or failure on the disarmament question, whose progress hitherto had fallen greatly short of the expectations of the peoples in the world. We, in Ireland, desire peace domestically and internationally, and are convinced that if the Irish are left alone to pursue their own policy we will succeed in securing a proper adjustment of Ireland's economic life and contribute more than our share to the prosperity of the world.

"May God Assist Us."

Mr. de Valera dramatically declared in Irish: May God assist us in the exalted task before us and may He not permit us to fail.

Referring to Lausanne, he said: It is still too soon to assess the final results, but it will be creditable if it paves the way to the settlement of inter-Governmental debts.

The Far East.

Alluding to the Far East he declared that happily there was no longer serious fighting involving heavy loss of life, but none the less it was true that larger problems are at issue and unsolved. He hoped that the Lytton Report would be conducive to a just and final settlement, and that the principles of the Covenant would triumph.

Impending Economic Collapse.

Likewise, he alluded to the economic conference in view of "evidence of an impending economic collapse."

He concluded by eulogising Sir Eric Drummond who is resigning.

RAILWAYS FIGHTING FOR LIFELOSING STRUGGLE AGAINST DEPRESSION*£2,000,000,000 AT STAKE IN ENGLAND

To stave off disaster, national prosperity being involved in every instance, grim fights are being made by railway authorities throughout the world. So far it has been a losing struggle against the two-fold attack of depression and motor transport.

Australia's railways have lost £43,000,000 in 10 years; 72 individual railroad companies in one year in the United States have failed by £20,000,000 to meet their fixed charges; and in England, where employees of the Southern Railway have had to postpone their summer holidays, £2,000,000,000 in capital is at stake.

Co-ordination of transport control is the means by which some Australian States are endeavoring to reduce the huge railway deficit, which was more than £11,000,000 in 1931.

In England and America the privately owned companies are fighting for their lives. Methods of economy, and of increasing traffic are being explored feverishly.

The four companies in England are actually faced with the problem of warding off bankruptcy. In the hands of the directors is the destiny of thousands of small shareholders throughout the country and the livelihood of tens of thousands of workers.

The actual capital invested in railways in Great Britain is £1,100,000,000, and properties belonging to the four systems, such as land, hotels, harbours, steamships and factories are worth an equal amount.

Big Figures.

Because there is no carrying trade a normal revenue of £200,000,000 a year is being whittled down almost to nothing.

The railways burn 16,000,000 tons of coal a year. They employ nearly one in 50 of the population, and the annual wage bill is more than £100,000,000.

The track mileage is 51,000, and there are 25,000 locomotives and 48,000 carriages with 2,670,000 seats. Freight wagons, which number 226,000, are capable of carrying 7,200,000 tons of merchandise. There are 1,100 tunnels.

The root cause of the present unprecedented slump in the earnings of British railways has been

BENGALI TERRORIST OUTBREAKEUROPEAN WOMAN KILLED

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

CALCUTTA, Sept. 26. THE victim of the Bengali terrorist outbreak at Chittagong last night was a woman, Mrs. Sullivan.

The outrage occurred at midnight when the European Institute at Baratali was thronged with Europeans on the occasion of the monthly dance.

The dance was at its height and the floor was crowded when a gang of ten armed men appeared at the open windows. A bomb was thrown into the building, killing Mrs. Sullivan and wounding eight other Europeans, the bomb fortunately, not being a remarkably powerful one.

The injured men included two police officers. There was a sharp exchange of shots between a handful of Europeans and the terrorists, as the result of which a Bengali girl was killed.

The remainder of the raiders escaped. There have been no further disturbances.

As far as is known at the moment, none of the other victims of the bomb is in a serious condition. The Bengali girl killed has been identified as a graduate of Dacca University. She had been "wanted" by the police following investigations into the last anti-European outbreak at Chittagong some months ago.

FORTY YEARS IN PRISONS.WOMAN'S GRATITUDE FOR LENIENCY

Described as "a remarkable woman" who had spent most of the last forty-two years in various prisons, Eileen Phillips, 68, a cook, thanked the acting chairman, Sir Herbert Wilberforce, at London Sessions, on Aug. 10, when he sentenced her to eighteen months' imprisonment.

"This is the first set of humanity and justice that has happened to me," she said, "and I have received nothing but penal servitude time after time."

The woman had pleaded guilty to charges of stealing jewellery and other property from dwelling-houses. Her method was said to be to answer an advertisement in a newspaper for a position as cook or working housemaid, and because of her respectable appearance and forged references she had no difficulty in obtaining situations.

A detective-inspector said that there were eighteen previous convictions against Phillips, the first being in 1890 and the last last year; an almost continuous record of crime, all of the same kind.

The acting chairman read a statement made by Phillips in which she said, "It is no use asking for leniency or mercy. I have never been given any chance for forty years. No one has tried harder than I have time after time."

In passing sentence of eighteen months, Sir Herbert said, "I do not think that the sentence is going to have any effect upon you. I see no hope of improvement. You must have robbed people during your life-time of thousands of pounds."

deserted coal mines and damped-out blast furnaces. The carriage of coal and steel has been the biggest dividend maker.

Fighting for Business.

Failing to secure heavy traffic, the companies are paying special attention to seasonal business. Last month there was a concentration on the strawberry trade, and in one night 1,000 tons of strawberries from one district were carried to Newcastle and Edinburgh.

The companies are carefully watching the amount of harrings from Yarmouth to Aberdeen, and special services are arranged in accordance with the catches.

The depression is the worst enemy of the railways in England. Services have been speeded up so that no other means of transport can compete with them over long distances. As a further safeguard the companies have bought an interest in 8,000 motor vehicles.

Flight in U.S.A.

In the United States there was a drop of 20 per cent. last year on the 1930 railway revenue, and passenger takings were 53 per cent. less than in 1930.

Nearly 600,000 fewer men were employed last year than five years before.

The story of the railways indeed is tragic.

COURIERS FAIL TO RETURNANXIETY FOR CAPTIVES INCREASES

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

NEWCHIWANG, Sept. 26. ANXIETY FOR Mrs. Pawley and Mr. Corkran has increased by the failure of the two couriers, who had been sent to the bandit lair, to return on scheduled time. They are now twenty-four hours overdue but it is possible that the bad state of the paths, caused by heavy rains, accounts for their delay.

Books, foodstuffs, clothes and comforting letters along with a pack of cards have been sent to the captives by devious channels.

GORDON BENNETT BALLOON RACESIXTEEN START FROM BASLE

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

BASLE, Sept. 26. SIXTEEN balloons entered by eight nations, including three entrants each from the United States, Germany, France and Switzerland, started this afternoon on the annual Gordon Bennett Race, for a cup presented by Mr. Henry Ford.

A light breeze prevailed at the time of the ascent, and the competition was carried gradually in the direction of Belgium, which was fortunate since the Soviet had issued a warning that balloons would not be permitted to drift over Soviet territory.

All the entrants, despite the warning, declared that they were prepared to take the risk, if necessary.

There are no British entries for the race.

SELANGOR ENTERPRISEAMUSEMENT PARK WITH HOT AND COLD BATHS

Kuala Lumpur, Sept. 12.—Three amusement park projects are said to have been approved in Kuala Lumpur, but it is not known whether they are all being proceeded with.

One, called the Great Eastern Amusement Park Ltd., has taken definite shape, its promoters having supplied the following details for publication.

The site is adjoining the Great Eastern Hotel and is claimed to be the best available in the town. It is within easy reach of the most thickly populated area of the town. It is ideally situated, the Sungai Klang and the Sungai Bunas almost surrounding it. It is isolated, well away from the main road and the residential area.

Noisy musical instruments will be eliminated, as will all amusements of a noisy character.

A hot spring discovered on the site will permit of the inclusion of hot spring baths and probably a swimming pool as additional attractions besides cold water swimming pools. The site provides ideal traffic facilities and ample parking accommodation.

Entertainments will be varied and provide legitimate and harmless amusements for all classes and races. There will be talkies, theatres (Malay, Chinese and Indian), restaurants, skating rink, cabaret, dance hall, boxing ring, swimming pools, and refreshment stalls of all kinds, and children's play ground equipment.

The opening will probably be during November.

CHINESE TROOPS RAID TSITSIHARANTI-MANCHUKUO FORCES FORCED TO RETIRE

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

HARBIN, Sept. 26. FIFTEEN hundred anti-Manchukuo troops, equipped with artillery and machine-guns, on Saturday attacked the Manchukuo garrison and captured the Chinese Eastern Railway settlement at Tsitsihar.

After taking the settlement, they fired a fusillade at a standing train from Manchuli, which had a number of passengers from Europe aboard.

Two Japanese armoured trains quickly arrived together with a large force of troops and after a few hours' bombardment of the anti-Manchukuo positions the raiders retreated.

Many were killed during the engagement.

It is not yet known whether any European passengers aboard the train were hit.

POLICE AT "BOTTLE" PARTYCONSTABLE WHO PAID £2 FOR BRANDY.

Police constable Cavalier, at Marlborough Street police court, told the story of his experiences at a house in New Bond Street, W., when Miss Gwendoline Burke-Mills was charged on remand with selling drink without a licence, and Gerald O'Brien, of Dering Street, W., was charged with aiding and abetting her. The police constable said that at the house he was asked what he had ordered. He said champagne and champagne was brought. He signed an invoice pad, gave the waiter £2, and received no change. The total of the bill was £1 5s. 6d. 15s. was charged for storage.

Miss Burke-Mills, he alleged, said to him, "You did not leave an order last time you were here. If you fill in an order you can come in at any time and have what you like." Miss Burke-Mills brought one of the darning girls to his table. He ordered four glasses of lager, but the darning girl said "Shall we have some brandy?"

She called the waiter, ordered a bottle of brandy, and said, "If you give me £2 that will pay for the brandy."

After 3.30 a.m. a drunken man was carried out.

When Sub-Divisional Inspector Mizen entered, he saw the darning girl, said, "It is a raid. Don't give your right names and addresses."

Miss Burke-Mills said, "Don't forget to say you paid for your drinks before eleven."

Police constable Cavalier added that his name and those of his friends were taken, and later Sub-Divisional Inspector Mizen, in the presence of Miss Burke-Mills, questioned him.

Mr. Paul, beginning his cross-examination, said, "There is a good deal which I am going to challenge about your evidence."

Replying to Mr. Paul, the officer said that on the first night he took £12 with him—his own money.

Mr. Paul: And you get it back afterwards?—I hope so.

Can you take as much money as you like?—Yes.

The hearing was adjourned.

CIVIL SERVICE SALARIES IN KENYACALL FOR DRASTIC CUTS

Nairobi, Aug. 16.—Major Grogan, one of Kenya's pioneer settlers, addressing a big meeting of farmers at Thomson Falls on the financial and political situation of the Colony, referred to the great rise in Civil Service emoluments since 1914 and the fact that, except for a temporary small levy, there had been no cut in spite of a 50 per cent. decrease in the cost of living.

It was, he said, vital that drastic cuts be made immediately to a level in consonance with the country's capacity to pay. Any attempt to raise further revenues from a hopelessly impoverished community would only precipitate bankruptcy, and the income-tax proposals, if put into practice, would not only ruin existing landed industry but would preclude such portions of it as might survive the present crisis from ever being free of debt.

"It is evident," said Major Grogan, "from the Governor's recent speech in the Legislature that he is not conversant with the general circumstances of the Colony."

He has, he said, deliberately misled his advisers by their own unbelief in the ignorance of the present state of the Colony. Unless, he said, drastic measures are taken, the Colony will be ruined.

FRANCE'S POLICY IN FAR EASTMR. SUN FO EXPRESSES HIS VIEWS

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

SHANGHAI, Sept. 26. MR. SUN FO, when interviewed, declared that France had changed the attitude of her Far Eastern policy, thus affording China a good chance for deliberations at the League of Nations as France is not likely to support Japan because the German demand for armaments equality, and, if Mr. Roosevelt is elected President, America is sure to join the League next year, after which the League will be powerful enough to order other nations to execute its orders.

SHANGHAI CHINESE BID FOR TRADESCHEME TO DEVELOP BUSINESS OUTSIDE FOREIGN SETTLEMENT

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

SHANGHAI, Sept. 26. THE decision of the Chinese authorities to erect the new main railway station at Chienpu, which is a considerable distance from the present location in the International Settlement, has enormous political significance inasmuch as by building a modern railway station and wharf accommodation away from the foreign areas, the Chinese hope to draw trade from foreign quarters, thus encouraging an expansion of business in the surrounding Chinese territory and the dream of a civic centre for a greater Shanghai municipality. It also forms part of a general scheme supported by Nanking.

NEW NON-SKID ROAD TRIEDCONCRETE-RUBBER SURFACE LAID DOWN SECRETLY

Tests are being made by the London County Council authorities with a new non-skid road surface material of concrete and rubber which may shortly be submitted to the road board for approval. A strip of the material was secretly put down at night in the London area, states the Daily Express of August 27.

The new material was perfected by Mr. G. Scollay, a research worker in concrete and cement, who, after four years' work, has overcome the difficulty of combining rubber with lime compounds.

It is claimed that the rubber-concrete material has greater flexibility and will give a longer life to roads under modern traffic conditions.

The additional cost is roughly 90 per cent. on that of the ordinary concrete road.

The London County Council stated, on inquiry by our London correspondent, that "no further particulars were available for publication yet."

Rubber Road at Huddersfield.

An area of 1,800 square yards of "Gaisman" Rubber Road Blocks has been laid in Market Street, Huddersfield. The blocks, which consist of a vulcanized rubber cap on a brick base, are of an improved type as a result of experience of test areas laid in other parts of the country. This area constitutes the largest section of a public highway laid with rubber blocks and the demonstration will doubtless be watched with considerable interest. It is understood that the contract provides for ten years' free maintenance. The blocks will last considerably longer, as it is claimed that a rubber road surface, besides possessing outstanding advantages in absorbing noise and vibration, will withstand traffic abrasion to a greater extent than any other known road surface.

he hoped the matter was reconsidered, there seemed no other method of protecting themselves than by informing the Government that, until the "monstrous distortion" involved in the present scale of Civil Service remunerations was readjusted, the price level forced upon it by outside factors would compel the country to state definitely that it was not prepared either to consider or give effect to any proposals for additional taxation.

Protest meetings are being arranged throughout the country against fiscal taxation proposals before adequate economy measures have been taken.

CHOLERA AT CHENG TU.OVER 2,000 DEATHS IN A SINGLE MONTH.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

CHENG TU, Aug. 31.—Cholera has attacked the west with a vengeance. It came steadily up the river like a destroying wave and claimed city after city leaving a wide area of destruction of life in its terrible wake. It reached Chengtu near the end of July. The city health authorities, assisted by the West China Council of Health Education, carried on a rapid and vigorous campaign of prevention.

The disease was not prevented but the people in the city and surrounding districts were educated as to methods of defence by widely placed placards and abundance of literature. Stations were opened for anti-cholera injections. The hospitals were soon filled and the mayor of the city, assisted by the Red Cross and other agencies, quickly provided a municipal hospital in one of the big temples, "Foh Nie Peh," or the "White clay medicine" was mixed in large quantities and given freely to the people.

This cheap remedy is marvellously efficacious in stopping the vomiting, and giving the victim a chance for life. However, the regular variety of cholera was mixed with a particularly virulent type that caused fatalities within two and three hours with neither of the usual accompanying symptoms—vomiting and excretions. Weakness, comas and a quick, bodily functions cease and a quick and sudden collapse ensues.

Casualty List.

The police bulletins announce the casualties for this month as follows:

Aug. 1-13, 884 deaths, Aug. 14-21, 831 deaths, Aug. 22-28, 747 deaths, total of 2,562 already this month, with probably half as many not reported. These figures, too, account for the serious inroads in the army forces where the losses have been extremely heavy and figures cannot be obtained as the army authorities do not want the real state of the ravages among them to be known. Conservative estimates are made by the people who have been following the course of the plague to the effect that probably 6,000 is nearer the figure for casualties this month.

An old man on the street grotesquely attired, represented himself to be the "Cholera spirit" and warned all and sundry that the plague would continue until Chinese New Year. Acting on this suggestion various societies conceived the idea of prematurely celebrating Chinese New Year. Accordingly, we have been treated to the unusual spectacle of seeing all the usual New Year trappings in August. The city is still wearing holiday attire, with the red and white lanterns hung in huge quantities and much red bunting and paper in evidence, with lanterns and firecrackers at night in abundance in the effort to scare off the cholera spirit and make him believe that it is really New Year.

The London County Council stated, on inquiry by our London correspondent, that "no further particulars were available for publication yet."

CRICKET

AS SEEN BY AN AMERICAN

Mr. Norman Klein, of the New York Evening Post, has written an account of the game as played between Mailey's team and the West Indians in July, he says:

Cricket is a nice way of demonstrating, out in the fresh air and sunshine, the astounding wizardry of British pantamakers. At Innisfail Park's holiday-littered cricket green today you could see the slender, brown-skinned West Indian and the much brawnier Aussie demonstrate that British flannel pants stay put without the boon of belts or garters.

You throw a red ball in the manner of a middle-aged pitcher on the Bloomer Girls' Baseball Team. The ball hits a green carpet something like the ones they spread on the steps at church weddings. If the batsman, who has shin-guards and a pleasant air, likes it, he swats it. If not, he turns his back on it.

It's not as exciting as the recent Ocean City National Boys' Marbles Championship Contest; it's not as spectacular as watching the champs dig the Rockefeller-Radio City foundations; but it is positively breathless compared with the subway ride up there to see it.

Mr. Fleetwood-Smith, for example, is called the best left-handed "century." This is called the battle of the "century."

HOLE IN ONE AT FANLING

Playing in a four-ball match at Fanling, Old Course on Sunday afternoon with Messrs. McKnight, Webb and MacDonald, Mr. J. D. Thomson did the Bog (7th hole) in one stroke.

googlie bowler in the world. A googlie bowler is in a class apart, and must not be missed at.

"What happens when a player 'loses his wicket'?" In that case, son, the rest of the team just raises Old Ned, and sends the spectators into convulsions—aye, proper convulsions—by rolling up a score of 300 before stumps are drawn.

How are scores made? It depends on how viciously the "slow spin" bowler "breaks down" the rival batsman. If he's mad at the googlie feller, anything can happen. Sometimes a gentleman at the "batting" cross will tap out grounders, fungoes, pop flies, and three-baggers until it's 7 or 8 p.m. He may run up a score of 200 or 300. This is called the battle of the "century."

CHINESE "YO YO" CHAMPION

EASTERN CUNNING IN WESTERN GAME

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

LONDON, Sept. 25.—One of the craftiest "Yo-Yo" players in the world has arrived in London to take part in the world "Yo-Yo" championship, which has been organised by the Evening Standard to follow the English Championship at the Leicester Square Theatre. He is Harvey Lowe, a 14-year-old Chinese boy, from Victoria, British Columbia, Canada.

Lowe struggles with a "Yo-Yo" with all the calm impassiveness of his race. There is no set strained expression on his face even when, in two-handed play, he is performing two different tricks simultaneously. He seems to take such things as a matter of course. Occasionally he glances from one hand to the other but that is the only evidence he gives of being interested in what his hands are doing.

Lowe believes that the secret of success with the "Yo-Yo" is constant practice. Whether it is or not, the fact remains that he may win the "Yo-Yo" championship of the world.

RIFLE SHOOTING

GRENHAM WINS -303 CHAMPIONSHIP

The Hong Kong 303 Rifle Championship, which was held on Kowloon Tong Range on Sunday, was won by J. C. M. Grenham.

The conditions for shooting at 300 yds. were ideal and L. A. C. Moon and L. V. Sargent, R.N., each made a possible. At 400 yds. the heat became excessive and shooting was most uncomfortable. L. A. C. Moon was leading at 300 yds. with a score of 66, Chappelle 2nd with 65 and Grenham 3rd with 64. Grenham scored a possible at 400 yds. The Championship was anyone's till the 600 yds., and at this treacherous range Moon dropped by registering 2 "flags." Grenham and Kirk scored 21 which brought them to the lead and Chappelle, who was well in the running, scored an outer with his last shot, thereby scoring only 17.

Many of the good shots were unlucky enough at 600 yds. to get "flags," and scoring at this range was decidedly bad, due no doubt to the wind which was blowing gustily up the valley and which competitors could not feel at the firing point.

CONSUMPTIVES VERSUS HORSE RACING?

MANUEL QUEZON'S PROPOSALS

Manila, Sept. 27.—The senate at its session yesterday noon with the usual crowd of spectators had occasion to hear Senate President Manuel Quezon defend for the first time publicly a legislative measure when he advocated strongly the approval of the senate bill to grant the Manila Jockey Club permission to hold races. Only provided portions of its profits are turned over to the Philippine Anti-Tuberculosis Society.

He said that the Manila Jockey Club or any other organization which sponsors horse racing should be granted permission by the government only under the condition that certain days are set aside during which the profits of the club should be turned over to the Anti-Tuberculosis society. Only on these conditions must the legislature permit the holding of the horse races, he explained, stating that in the event that horse racing establishments like the Manila Jockey Club should refuse to accede to these conditions, horse racing may be prohibited.

Mr. Quezon strongly urged the enactment of the senate bill sponsored by nine senators providing for changes of the conditions under which horse racing may be permitted, among which is that which requires the jockey club to hold horse race sweepstakes at stated dates.

Mr. Quezon also spoke of the work of the anti-tuberculosis society and expressed the opinion that a portion of its funds should be set aside towards the construction of a sanatorium somewhere at the Mountain province, possibly in the neighbourhood of Baguio. He said the northern highlands have proven more effective health resorts than similar places in other countries explaining that while he had travelled abroad in search of a health resort and returned from them almost crippled with sickness, he practically recovered from illness during his short sojourns in Baguio.

Sanitarium Baguio. As a political leader he did not agree with those who believe that the establishment of a tuberculosis sanatorium would spoil the reputation of Baguio as a health resort. But the sanitarium may be built not necessarily in the city of Baguio, at an appropriate place where the sick may be able to recuperate without mixing with the city population, according to him. Mr. Quezon said he would be only too willing to contribute towards the construction of a tuberculosis sanatorium but since people would contribute only through paying stakes in the horse races, the imposition in the senate bill, in his opinion, was in order.

DR. D. COVE-SMITH

FAMOUS RUGBY FOOTBALL PLAYER ENGAGED

The engagement of Dr. Ronald Cove-Smith, the Rugby football player, and Miss Florence Margaret Harris, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Harris, of Griffithstown, Monmouth, is announced.

Dr. Cove-Smith has captained England's Rugby Fifteen on seven occasions, and was also captain of the British team which toured Africa in 1924. He is one of the best forwards in the game and has no fewer than 25 international caps.

He gained his Rugby Colours at Merchant Taylors when he was 14, and was awarded his Blue as a Freshman at Cambridge. For several seasons he captained the Old Merchant Taylors and the Middlesex County Fifteen. He is, too, a first-rate swimmer (he represented Cambridge University), a clever boxer, and a good orsman.

Dr. Cove-Smith is a teetotaler and a non-smoker and during his playing career was in training throughout the year. Dr. Cove-Smith has held various appointments at London hospitals. At King's College Hospital, Denmark Hill S.E., where he was a student, he has served as junior casualty officer, house physician for children, Medical Registrar, and honorary surgeon.

Miss Harris, who is 22, has just completed her training at King's College Hospital, where she met Dr. Cove-Smith.

BRIGHTER CRICKET SUGGESTIONS.

TIME LIMIT FOR BATSMEN, OR A FOURTH STUMP

London, August 10.—The demand for brighter cricket and the harm done to the game by the modern ultra-cautious batting has brought forth an interesting letter from Sir George Lovison-Gower. He makes two interesting suggestions:—

"(1)—Could not a time-limit— and a very generous one—be set to the duration of a batsman's innings, i.e., if he has not made a certain maximum of runs within a specified time, he should be automatically out. It would certainly tend to enforce the dictum of 'get on or get out'."

"(2)—Could the wicket not be further lengthened and broadened by the addition of a fourth stump?"

Mr. Gilligan writes that he is much in favour of both suggestions. Unnecessarily slow batting would be discouraged. People have become so sick and tired of funeral cricket that they will not go and watch it. A batsman might not only be ruled out but a penalty might be inflicted on the offending team.

A fourth stump would be most attractive from a bowler's point of view, particularly on some of the perfect wickets known as a batsman's paradise. It would be interesting to arrange an experimental match on such lines, especially to see how many batsmen got out leg-before-wicket.

CRUISING HOLIDAYS.

SUMMER BOOM IN BRITAIN.

London, Sept. 5.—Cruising has so delighted some holiday makers who have tried it for the first time that they have booked up for another cruise next year while still afloat. A number of passengers in the luxury liner Arandora Star, now on a cruise for instance, have cabled home to reserve accommodation in the same liner for next year. There are signs that cruising holidays will be even more popular next year than they have been this summer.

Mr. Thomas Aggett, passenger manager of the Blue Star Line, said to-day: This year's boom is still at a high level, and we have had to refuse more than 800 applications for room in the Arandora Star during her next cruise to the Mediterranean. Bookings for next year are already so heavy that we have decided to include an additional cruise. This will bring the number of our cruises to 12."

PAYSHEET FOR "ROCKET"

ENGINEERING COSTS IN STEPHENSON'S DAY.

London, Sept. 5.—Part of the original pay-sheet for work on the building of Stephenson's "Rocket" came to light on Saturday unexpectedly. A Newcastle solicitor wrote to Mr. Percival Marshall, director of the Model Engineering Exhibition at the Royal Horticultural Hall, offering to lend the sheet to be shown beside the silver model of the "Rocket" which is one of the features of the Exhibition.

The sheet shows payments for Wright's work on the original engine. Two of the men received wages of 3s a day, one 2/6d a day, and one 1/1/- day. The sheet is made out in copper plate writing and Stephenson's signature is at the foot.

"TARZAN."

CROWDS FLOCK TO THE QUEEN'S.

A trade notice states:—"Tarzan, the Ape Man," reaches the screen with all of the thrills and breath-taking adventures of the famous Edgar Rice Burroughs story depicted at the Queen's Theatre. Johnny Weismuller, world's champion swimmer, who was cast in the title role because of his tremendous physical build, is excellent in the part, giving a vivid personification of the strange human being who was raised by the ape men as one of their own.

Others who give creditable performances in the engrossing story of adventure in the African jungle include Neil Hamilton, C. Aubrey Smith, Maureen O'Sullivan, Doris Lloyd, Forrester Harvey and Curtis Nero. The direction of W. S. Van Dyke is the every way up to the high standard set by his previous success, "Trader Horn."

"AROUND THE WORLD IN
80 MINUTES"WITH DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS SHOWING AT CENTRAL THEATRE.

A trade notice states:—"That a motion picture can be true and yet be as thrilling and romantic as fiction is proved in this sensational film.

Here is the greatest novelty yet to reach the screen! With three companions, Doug actually travelled out to strange lands in search of new thrills, and that he found them is amply verified by the record of his camera. To see the picture is actually to accompany Doug and share the fascinating adventures he found. Through China, Japan, India, Siam and Indo-China went Doug and his comrades in adventure, shooting wild beasts, meetings kings, queens and celebrities visiting sacred and historic spots, mingling with the surging tides of oriental humanity—looking always for the unusual, the extraordinary—and always finding it.

It would be difficult to say whether the film is more humorously exciting or more exciting humorously, for when the magic of Doug's sense of humour, thrills give way to laughs on the least provocation. "Around the World in 80 Minutes" with Douglas Fairbanks could well be called a comedy, one of the best of this or any other year, were it not for the richness of strange and interesting facts about far away countries with which the record is crammed.

MISS BETH BERI.

RETURN ENGAGEMENT AT KING'S.

A trade notice states:—"Miss Beth Beri, the famous young American dancer, who is appearing in a limited return engagement at the King's Theatre commencing on October 1, is returning to Hong Kong after a most successful three-months' tour of Malaya, Java, Siam and the Philippines.

The danseuse is bringing to Hong Kong an entirely new repertoire, although it is likely that popular demand will make it necessary for her to repeat some of the numbers which so delighted Hong Kong theatre-goers during her appearance here in June. Of these, the "Fan Dance," her interpretation of which won her fame in "Rose Marie," has, without doubt, a universal appeal. During her recent engagements in Singapore, Batavia and Penang, the enthusiastic audiences there refused to allow the dancer to leave the stage before she had repeated several encores of this captivating number.

While in Manila, Miss Beri made an exhaustive study of the Indian dance, by which, upon her return to Shanghai, she plans to enlarge the curriculum of her dance studio there. Similarly, while in Bangkok, the artist availed herself of the opportunity of studying the Siamese dance. Through a special invitation from the King of Siam, Miss Beri was able to observe closely the picturesque movements of the court dancers—the finest of their type in the world.

She will be accompanied at the piano by Mr. Monte Litter, who is one of the most brilliant pianists in the Far East. By Zimbalist and Heifetz, combines the difficult art of expert accompaniment and a really wonderful solo work. Mr. Litter is expected to appear at several concerts during the coming season.

"DEVIL'S LOTTERY."

THRILLS AT THE KING'S

A trade notice states:—"Hailed as one of the really big productions of the year, 'Devil's Lottery,' the Fox picture, with Elissa Landi in the leading role, opens its long awaited engagement to-day at the King's Theatre.

A tremendous cast of screen favorites, including Victor McLaglen, Alexander Kirkland, Paul Cavanagh, Beryl Mercer, Barbara Weeks, Halliwell Hobbes and Herbert Rudin, will be seen in this screen adaptation of Nabro Bartley's famous novel.

This picture portrays Miss Landi as a former member of a royal family who through her association with various men, has become a social outcast. She is among the winners of the Calcutta Sweepstake, and, with the other winners, is invited to spend the week-end at the country home of Lord Litchfield, owner of the winning horse and a newspaper proprietor.

Lord Litchfield's object in inviting this cosmopolitan group to his home is that he may study the effect of sudden riches on them.

Among the guests are Mary Ann Meach, a role enacted by Beryl Mercer; Jim Meach, her son, a second rate prize fighter portrayed by Victor McLaglen; Major Hugo Beresford, a card sharp, played by Paul Cavanagh, and Captain Geoffrey Maitland, a role played by Ralph Morgan. Once they are assembled under the palatial roof, Lord Litchfield gets more than he bargained for. A murder is committed, another guest is smothered to death while attempting to protect her money, a double romance develops and a series of other exciting events enliven the occasion. Miss Landi wears some gorgeous gowns in the picture and the settings are said to be remarkable for their beauty and detail.

"ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT."

WAR EPIC AT ORIENTAL

A trade notice states:—"After the completion of the many battle scenes included in the colossal epic, 'All quiet on the Western Front,' now showing at the Oriental Theatre, Universal officials made a careful check of the first aid hospital unit that accompanied the company on its locations.

According to a report prepared by Dr. William F. Hutchins, who was in charge of the hospital unit, approximately 3,694 cases were treated during the 11 weeks of production when large groups of extras were engaged. Of this number there was not a single serious case. The figures indicated that John Hallor, who was employed by the company to give first aid treatment, handled 48 cases daily.

These cases ranged from simple lesions to dislocations and fractures. It so happened that there were but three cases of dislocations and fractures and these were of a minor nature. Most of the cases treated were slight abrasions and burns. Soldiers occasionally were struck by flying objects or sustained slight injuries in barbed wire entanglements.

Despite the fact that more powder and dynamite were used in the picture than in any other picture, the figures show that there was not a single serious case. The figures indicated that John Hallor, who was employed by the company to give first aid treatment, handled 48 cases daily.

"SPLINTERS IN THE NAVY."BRITISH COMEDY FOR THE QUEEN'S.

A trade notice states:—"One of the most spectacular, if not one of the most important members of the cast of 'Splinters in the Navy,' showing shortly at the Queen's, is Wilfred, who in one sequence, Wilfred is a goat, and a born film artist. In fact, he became very popular with all the staff at Twickenham, but showed a distinct personal preference for Sydney Howard himself.

At first, whenever the glare of the lights was turned upon him, Wilfred was apt to be temperamental, but a pat or a word from Sydney would reduce him to immediate docility. 'He is a good lad,' said the famous comedian on one occasion, 'I shouldn't be surprised if he comes from York-shire.'

passing through Hong Kong on his way to Shanghai, where he will appear at several concerts during the coming season.

NEXT CHANGE AT KING'S

A trade notice states:—"Seventy-five dress extras worked recently in a palace of chance set for 'Sinners in the Sun' as background for Chester Morris and Carole Lombard. About 200 were used in a garden party scene, a dance absorbed another 200, two style shows took 100, each, and a street scene about 60 more. This social drama, with settings depicting Manhattan and Long Island social life, comes to the King's Theatre on Thursday.

A similar effort to keep the extras employed is shown in other productions. "Clara Deane," featuring Wynne Gibson and Pat O'Brien, uses 220 in two style show sequences, more than 400 in prison scenes, a total of 115 in street scenes and 230 in party scenes. "The Broken Wing," featuring Lupe Velez and Leo Carrillo, has used 100 Latins in street scenes. "Thunder Below," starring Tallulah Bankhead, recently used more than 100 in South American cantina scenes and employ more than 200 atmosphere players in fiesta scenes. "Sky Bride" has, in addition to more than fifty in street scenes, a crowd of more than 600 watching an air circus. In "Dancers in the Dark," 300 were used for two weeks in dance hall scenes with Miriam Hopkins and Jack Oakie.

BRITISH FILM
CENSOR COMEDY"SHOCKING" BEDROOM
SCENE EXCISED.

When you see the British talkie "Wedding Rehearsal," you will be deprived of the spectacle of Lady Tree and George Grossmith sharing the same marriage bed, writes a critic in a Home paper.

The reason: The film censor, in his infinite wisdom, has decreed that the scene is likely to corrupt your morals.

The facts: Lady Tree, who I understand is sixty-nine years of age, and George Grossmith, who is fifty-eight, are depicted in the story of "Wedding Rehearsal" as a titled married couple with two grown-up children.

The scene to which objection is made is soaked in respectability and decorum. The dialogue is completely innocuous.

But the censor is adamant about observing his rule that people of opposite sexes must not be portrayed in bed.

No thought of censorship ever entered the head of Alexander Korda, the director of "Wedding Rehearsal," when he fashioned the sequence of an early morning scene in the studio bedroom occupied by Lady Tree and George Grossmith. The camera first showed George Grossmith reading his morning paper while Lady Tree sipped a cup of tea.

But when "Wedding Rehearsal" was submitted to the censor he insisted that the scene should be cut. As a result this part of the film had to be scrapped, and two days before the trade show of the production a new sequence was made showing Lady Tree and George Grossmith out of bed and gazed in opaque dressing-gowns.

Thus the power of censorship has been established once more. The morals of the British public are safeguarded. Lady Tree, aged sixty-nine, smiles across at George Grossmith, aged fifty-eight, and the film industry roars with laughter.

Banvard Player in "Devil's Lottery."

An interesting feature connected with "Devil's Lottery," now showing at the King's Theatre, is the fact that one of the minor roles, that of a footman, is played by Frank Atkinson. It will be remembered that Mr. Atkinson appeared here, actually at the Star Theatre, Kowloon, with the Banvard Musical Comedy Company some four or five years ago. This actor is a friend of Mr. G. Stoppani Thompson, who is well-known locally as an amateur actor of ability, and it was through Mr. Thompson playing, as an amateur, in "Mercenary Mary" for the Banvard Company that the friendship was formed.

Tall Star's Illness.

Robert Montgomery, the blue-eyed film giant who starred in "Private Lives" with Norma Shearer, has suddenly been taken ill at Hollywood. An emergency operation was performed.

"Act Naturally—But Do Not Act!"

This paradoxical advice was offered by Josef von Sternberg, whose work as a motion picture director has made his theories and opinions respected in Hollywood. Von Sternberg, now directing Marietta Dietrich in Paramount's "Blonde Venus," declares it is only when actors forget they are actors that they are valuable in front of a camera. He demands of every player in his pictures, whether they be stars or atmospheric "bits," that they react to any given situation as natural.

Forget the camera's presence," he admonishes. "Realize that this little thing you are to do is not a great national event; act as you would act in real life—but do not act."

Two Pairs of Lovers, and Will Rogers.

One big company is planning to make an all-star picture which will include Will Rogers, Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell, James Dunn, and Sally Eilers, and possibly, if an agreement can be reached with the company he works for, Robert Montgomery. It sounds as if it would need all Will Rogers's humor to deal with two such well-known pairs of lovers, and the spare young man, as well.

Great Productions in England.

The leading British film studios are beginning a period of greater production activity than they have ever hitherto known. This unprecedented push is represented by 20 new talking pictures, in which more than 250,000 will be invested. And this unexampled prosperity has precipitated a film war. With the exception of British International Pictures, all other studios are up in arms against the popular use of the word "Brit" to describe British film production as a whole.
